To whom it may concern,

It is with great pleasure that I write this letter of recommendation for Amer Alchama. He is a talented, responsible and ambitious young architect who has high expectations of himself and inspires those around him.

I had the fortunate opportunity of having Amer in my Building Technology 3 class. He was a top student who quickly mastered Revit and how to put together a set of design development documents. He was an exemplar student who set the standards higher for the entire class. I have also been a critic in his design studios. He is as talented a designer as he is a technician.

Amer is a role model in our student community with his excellence in academics and good nature. I whole heartedly support him in his future endeavors and am sure he will be successful on whatever road he follows. Please feel free to contact me should you have need any additional information.

Sincerely,
